

Exhibitor's Participation Agreement

This agreement is effective May 1, 2022.

The following agreement governs your participation in Art & Object vFairs. Once you register as an exhibitor, you agree to these policies and conditions.

The ownership of vFairs is as follows:

Journalistic, Inc.

101 Europa Dr, STE 150

Chapel Hill, NC 27517

(919) 945-0700

Journalistic, Inc. operates the Art & Object website, which in turn operates vFairs. vFairs are exhibits of artwork by selected groups of artists and galleries for the enjoyment of and that may be purchased by visitors to our site during the fair period.

The names "vFair," "Art & Object," and "Curio," are all associated with Journalistic, Inc.

When listing an item in our vFair, you agree to comply with our policies below:

1. You agree to list only items that you personally created, that you have in your possession, that are in physical existence.
2. If you are not the personal creator of the item listed, you agree that you have the legal right to list and sell the item listed.
3. You assume full responsibility for the item offered and the accuracy and content of your listings.
4. You agree that any photography included of that item is owned by you; or that you have acquired the rights to display the photography of the item listed. You agree to provide any necessary measures to prevent misuse of posted photography on our site.
5. 50% of the items listed must be for sale. Any prices stated on our website must be for the specific item listed.
6. Art & Object makes no warranty about any item listed, its worth, the photography, or any aspect of your listings. You may remove your listing at any time.
7. Art & Object reserves the right to terminate any listing or exhibitor participation for any violation of our policy.
8. Each listing offered by you should be unique in material ways from other listings. Multiples of works should be listed one at a time with the appropriate edition

- number stated. When that item is removed either through sale or some other reason, it may be replaced by a similar listing with a different edition number.
9. Nothing living may be offered for sale. No services can be offered for sale.
  10. We reserve the right to promote your participation in our vFair; or promote the appearance of any of your listings before, during, or after the vFair. To do so, you are providing us permission to use your photography for this purpose and no other purpose. You may terminate this permission after your fair appearance if you so desire by removing the listing from our site.
  11. vFairs does not offer any goods directly for sale or represent any artist, take any commission, or make any claim or warranty of any kind to items that appear on our site.
  12. The information you provide about yourself is clearly visible to our site administrators. Contact information for you may be used to contact you, email you, notify you of our upcoming plans, and so forth. You may opt-out of receiving any information we may send at any time.
  13. The extent of any data provided about your participation in the vFair can be found on your dashboard. Art & Object has no obligation to provide any additional information.
  14. Art & Object recognizes the importance of art to push boundaries. Art & Object strongly supports fair and equal treatment regardless of race, color, ancestry, age, sex, sexual orientation, religion, disability, ethnicity, national origin, veteran status, marital status, or other human conditions. Art that violates these mores without artistic merit may be removed from our site by the editors.

The administrators of Art & Object hope that you have a good experience and welcome your feedback at any time.